Multi-award winning singer/songwriter Melissa Bajric has carved her mark in Australian Country Music

At just 16 she stepped into the studio to work with Golden Guitar winning producer Lindsay Butler and released her debut album 'Believe in Me' on Drover Music. The album instantly caught the attention of radio and industry identities and started Melissa on her road to professional success.

She then featured on Drover Music's duets album Drov'in' All Over, along with label co-artists Bob Easter and renowned songwriter Graham Rodger.

'Small Town Girl', Melissa's latest album has shown this young lady at her very best. With five of her own compositions, including the TSA award-winning song 'Little Girl In Me', a couple of film clips on CMC, and her latest single scoring high in the charts overseas, Melissa has earned a well respected place in the music industry.

Melissa is currently working on her next album which is planned for release during 2009.
